

Good Afternoon,

Emergency Responder's from Freeport Fire Department along with other participating agencies remain on the scene at the FLNG plant in Quintana providing support for FLNG Emergency response. The situation is stable with State and Federal officials on site monitoring the conditions. The City of Freeport Emergency Response Director, Fire Chief Chris Motley, has been on scene all day and will continue to advise and update our City Manager. As of this time, the incident remains contained to within the plant boundaries and there have been no calls to shelter in place nor evacuate. FLNG officials continue to ask the City to assure residents that there is no risk to the public. For more information visit www.brazosportcaer.com.

We will continue to bring all information available to our residents as we receive it. Please monitor our city website, social media, and the telephone for further updates.
